Expedient eating, Hogging without hurting

Eating to sustain and hogging for pleasure, however short-lived, are different kettles of fish. Thanks to the factor of wide choice in the land's time-honoured cuisine, a legacy handed down by its generations over several centuries, eating for pleasure without resorting to hogging is no big deal. However, the dishes that are an integral part of the country's long tradition are now obliged to contend with the host of exotic menu on offer in star hotels despite their cost to the connoisseurs who make no bones about splurging their money. Many of these dishes favoured by the youth of our times, are still beyond the senior citizens in the matter of their ingredients, how they are made and even the proper way of eating. Pizzas, pastas, pastries, noodles and doughnuts don't figure in their menu. Even as their impact on health is beamed through all avenues of spreading knowledge, there doesn't seem to be more than a miniscule fraction takers among the millennials while the seniors have no option except to notice helplessly. Food preferences seem to have their seeds sown in childhood itself, resisting change from the stubborn habits subsequently.

Lush literature, both originating in the land's ancient texts and publications in book as well as other forms, not to forget the encyclopaedic internet, concerning food consumption consistent with wellness can be accessed effortlessly in our times. Bugged by the hurry-burry of life nowadays, that stock of knowledge doesn't qualify to be even described as information that should be taken note of.

Both food crops and horticultural produce raised with enormous inputs as well as sweat and toil of farmers are known to be allowed to suffer substantial losses through the stages covering harvest up to the point of consumption. Given the steadily shrinking land space for raising food and expansion of the country's headcount, even under ideal conditions the availability of food per person is heading to come down, hinting at drastic changes in both raising crops and food consumption by the population as a whole. The dictum You be the change you want to happen assumes deeper meaning now, more than anytime past. Water-guzzling food crops such as rice and sugarcane are currently under the scanner with hints on growing food crops that need far less agro inputs followed by consuming food sustainably.

The land's people owe it to themselves to not only resonate with agriculture producing food crops that don't strain the available soil stock but also exercise vigil on getting maximum mileage out of the entire stock of food resources for themselves and their livestock. Restraint in expedient eating and hogging without hurting the planet is the bottomline.

BULLFIGHT OF A DIFFERENT KIND: A stray bull that ventured into a mahagathbandhan rally in Uttar Pradesh some days ago has managed to enter the election narrative in the State. At another rally on Monday, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said the bull had entered the venue probably to find out if any slaughterhouse operator was present at the meeting and give him the treatment he deserved. Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav, at whose meeting the bull had made its entry, said the animal came to air its grievances.

Bedtime stories that put grown-ups to sleep

Toronto: A Toronto-based sleep writer creates his stories with one thing in mind – to make them interesting enough to get adults' attention, but dull enough to put them to sleep.

39-year-old Chris Advansun is a screenplay writer who sort of just got into sleep writing and fell in love with it. He just adores the challenge of balancing his grown-up bedtime stories in such a way that they gently pull the listener away from the thoughts that usually keep them up at night and then gently allow them to drift off to sleep. He has to stay away from anything attention-gripping to keep the listeners from becoming too involved in the story, but also make it interesting enough to keep them listening.

Although he admits that the idea of writing a story with the goal of listeners never reaching its end was weird at first, Advansun says that he has since understood that this type of stories have a different goal, and as long as they are helping people, he is satisfied.

Man claims dog medicine cured his cancer

Oklahoma: A man who was diagnosed with lung cancer has claimed that he is now tumor-free after taking cheap deworming drug usually meant for dogs. Joe Tippens of Oklahoma was diagnosed with small-cell lung cancer in 2016. Despite undergoing treatment for the disease the cancer had spread to other organs and even his bones. Tippens thought he was going to die, and with nothing left to lose, he was willing to try anything in hopes of a miracle, even a dog deworming medicine. Joe stumbled upon the bizarre post of cancer cure. To his surprise, that person was a veterinarian. Joe placed an order for the canine drug the veterinarian mentioned. Three months later, when he had another PET scan to check the spread of his cancer, he was shocked to learn that there was no sign of the tumors anywhere in his body.

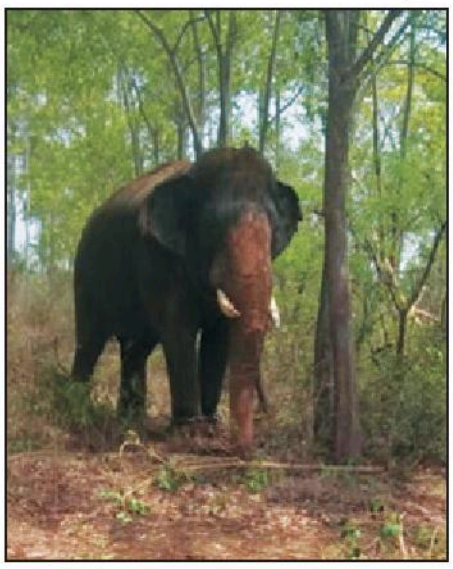
Elephants destroy crops in taluk



Mysuru, May 4- Even as the Forest Officials are making relentless efforts to tackle elephant menaces, a herd of wild elephants, which have been roaming about in the outskirts of several villages in the taluk, has destroyed standing crops near Chikkanahalli in the taluk recently.

The elephants from Chikkanahalli Reserved Forest area in Jayapura hobli of the taluk, have destroyed crops grown in farmlands around Chikkanahalli, causing a loss of lakhs of rupees to the farmers.

After destroying crops in tens of acres of land around Chikkanahalli, the elephants have now moved to Konana Betta forest area near Bettadabeedu coming under Chamundeshwari Assembly segment.

The efforts of the Forest Department to drive out the elephants from Konana Betta have proved futile so far as the elephants have stayed put, causing worry to the villagers.

The pachyderms have destroyed Banana crops grown in four acres of land belonging to Shivannegowda and Bheemagowda of Mavinahalli three days ago. They have also destroyed jack fruit trees and ridge gourd crop grown in adjacent lands.

The elephants have also caused havoc in neighbouring villages such as Harohalli, Kallahalli, Gumachanahalli and Soliga Colony, destroying crops, causing a loss of lakhs of rupees to the farmers.

Suffering huge losses due to the destruction of crops by elephants, the affected farmers have urged the Forest, Revenue and Horticulture Department officials to conduct a survey and announce appropriate compensation.

Meanwhile, Forest Officer Prashanth said that the Department has been making constant efforts to drive the elephants back to the forests. The Department has sought Police help for preventing elephant menace in Chikkanahalli area and all measures have been taken to end the menace, he added.

Tusker gores man to death in H.D. Kote

H.D. Kote, May 4 (MTY&DM)- Just a day after coffee planter Chokira Sudha Kuttappa was trampled to death by an elephant at Srimangala in Kodagu district on Friday, a 50-year-old man was gored to death by a wild tusker near Madapura in H.D. Kote taluk of Mysuru district this morning.

Hanumanthappa, a native of Kakkera in Raichur district is the deceased.

Hanumantappa was among a group of eight labourers from Raichur district who were engaged by a contractor for labour work at Kabini Canal close to Hyrige in the taluk, it is learnt.

Hanumanthappa was on his way to draw water from the Canal at about 7 am, when a wild elephant attacked him suddenly and trampled him to death.

H.D. Kote Police and Forest personnel visited the spot.

The Forest Officials suspect that one among the herd of elephants that is camping near Chikkanahalli may have strayed into Madapura and trampled Hanumanthappa to death.

Meanwhile, a herd of 30-40 elephants was spotted near Madapura yesterday, causing scare among people in nearby villages.

The villagers have urged the Forest Department to take immediate measures for chasing the elephants back to the forests, as their presence pose a big threat to their lives and standing crops grown in fields.

Youth power to curb chain-snatching

Mysuru, May 4- Chain-snatchers are back in action creating panic and shock among the citizens of the city.

Karnataka Rakshana Vedike Mysuru District President K. Madesh decided to create awareness about this dangerous trend of targeting women by bike-borne chain-snatchers by roping in the youth to participate in the awareness drive.

The youth took out a jatha in Gokulam extension, then went door-to-door visiting houses in the area and asked the people, especially women, to not only be careful while walking on the roads wearing gold jewellery but also inform the Police if they found anyone moving around in a suspicious manner.

The youths felt it is not just the duty of the Police to keep a watch on the miscreants but the citizens too should exercise caution and lend a helping hand to the Cops in apprehending the chain-snatchers by noting down the registration number of the bikes involved in the crime, if and when possible.

Major gold seizure at KIA

Chamarajanagar man among 2 held for smuggling 4 kg yellow metal

Bengaluru, May 4- In a major gold seizure at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), Bengaluru, the Customs sleuths busted two passengers attempting to innovatively smuggle in over 4 kg of the yellow metal worth about Rs.1.3 crore last Thursday.

Sources with the Air Intelligence Unit (AIU) of Bengaluru Customs said their team intercepted a passenger who disembarked from Emirates flight EK 568 (from Dubai) at Bengaluru airport at 2.46 am. Inspection of his luggage revealed a medium-sized red bench vice machine with unusual rivets. Customs official dismantled the device only to find two gold bars and four cut pieces of gold, all covered in black insulation tape. The smugglers had meticulously covered the gold under 7.6 kg of thick iron sheets to avoid detection.

The smuggler identified as a native of Chamarajanagar was in possession of 3.6 kg gold worth over Rs.1.1 crore in the Indian market. The gold was seized and the suspect arrested and questioned further, Customs sources said.

Gold strips in trolley bag

Meanwhile, another AIU team combing the passenger arrival area intercepted a man — identified as a Bengalurean — who landed in an Air India flight from Muscat, Oman via Hyderabad at 4.59 am on Thursday.

Sensing something amiss about the trolley bag he was carrying as part of his hand luggage, sleuths inspected it thoroughly. Soon they discovered the handle of the trolley had extra aluminium-like strips affixed, which was found to be made of solid gold coated with mercury. Two more buckles of the bag coated in black were also crafted of solid gold.

Customs officials found a total of eight pieces coated with mercury and pasted on to the trolley to avoid detection by airport officials. A total of 358.4 gm of gold worth Rs.11.7 lakh was found from the trolley bag of the passenger who was booked, sources added.

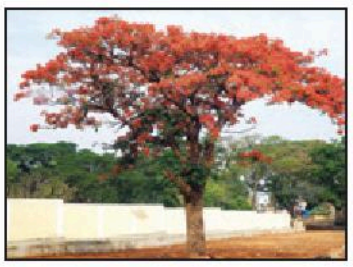
Number Gulmohar trees in city and take census

Sir,

This is with reference to Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem's 'Over a cup of evening tea' published in Star of Mysore on Friday (May 3) where he had written on a Gulmohar tree under the title "Gulmohar Gone forever... But Hope lives on!"

I think this article should be an eye-opener for both Mysuru City Corporation and the vandals. I have been enjoying views of Gulmohar flowers during summer in Mysuru since the last 40 years and seeing the trees, I am reminded of Shalimar Flower Garden that is considered as one of the famous gardens in Kashmir. This Garden was built by Mughal Emperor Jahangir for his wife Nur Jahan and its name Shalimar means abode of love. This Garden is known for its Gulmohar trees and roses.

To save Gulmohar and other trees in Mysuru, the Forest Department must number the trees like they do in forests to have proper accountability and visibility. Numbering Gulmohar trees and taking census will help the Department save them from being chopped off for one reason or other.



Secondly, the trees must not be planted in such places like below electric wires, near buildings and places where roads are set to be widened. Once the road is marked to be widened, the immediate casualty is trees. Suitable places must be identified to plant such trees so that it can grow to be a prominent feature of any particular road.

Thirdly, the Forest Department and the City Corporation must initiate measures to plant Gulmohar trees at all parks in city. The number of trees to be planted can be decided depending on the size of the park. Planting Gulmohar will enhance the aesthetic beauty of the parks and in addition it can provide good shade.

Ministry of Road Transport and Highways submits affidavit in Supreme Court

Wildlife activists hail move; Kerala seeks more time to look into affidavit

Bengaluru, May 4 (KMS&BCT)- In a major relief to Karnataka that has been relentlessly fighting to keep roads through Bandipur Tiger Reserve closed at night, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) and Ministry of Environment and Forests (MoEF), told the Supreme Court that they have accepted the recommendation of maintaining status quo on the National Highway (NH) 766.

The Ministry move comes as a setback to the Kerala Government that has been demanding the opening of the Highway for night traffic. Considering Kerala's demands, the Ministry had earlier favoured the lifting of the night traffic ban. Now the Ministry has made a U-turn and swore before the Supreme Court that it would maintain present status quo.

At present, there is a 9 pm to 6 am ban on traffic on NH-212 (now NH 766) that connects Karnataka to Kerala via Gundlupet in Chamarajanagar and on NH-67 that links Karnataka to Tamil Nadu. The ban was imposed in view of high wildlife killings by speeding vehicles. Karnataka has been allowing restricted and equal fleet of both Kerala and Karnataka road transport buses and emergency vehicles during the ban hours.

Kerala's hopes dashed: Wildlife experts said that the Ministry's stand has practically wiped out Kerala's hopes of revoking the ban. Kerala has been arguing that its economic activity has taken a hit due to traffic restrictions. The ban recently became an election issue in that State when Congress President Rahul Gandhi, addressing a rally at Wayanad from where he is contesting, said that problems pertaining to night traffic ban through the Bandipur Tiger Reserve will be looked into.

Rahul's remarks evoked sharp reactions from wildlife experts in Karnataka who said that the Congress President has been ill-informed about the ongoing tussle between the two States.

Expert Committee recommendations: Appearing before the Apex Court on May 1, MoRTH submitted that it, as well as MoEF, were in agreement with the recommendations of the Committee of Secretaries that had noted that Bandipur wildlife had adapted to the ban between 9 pm and 6 am.

The Committee, comprising senior officials from Karnataka, Kerala, MoRTH, MoEF, and the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA), had decided in February this year that the ban should continue in the interests of wildlife conservation.

Alternative routes: The Committee also consulted the Chief Secretaries of Karnataka and Kerala via video conference and recorded their stand. It observed that apart from the Bandipur route, Karnataka government had spent crores of rupees to improve the condition of alternative roads via Hunsur-Gonikoppa-Kutta-Manandawadi-Kattikkulam and via Konanur-Makutta and Madikeri-Kutta.

The ban was imposed by the State Forest Department in 2009, and won the case in the High Court of Karnataka a year later. In 2010, Kerala filed a Special Leave Petition against the High Court order in the Supreme Court. The Committee found that arguments by the Karnataka government are in the larger interest of the flora and fauna.

Under pressure from Kerala Government, MoRTH had earlier proposed an elevated road through Bandipur. It even claimed to have obtained the consent of Karnataka government. This had led to a series of protests in Karnataka forcing the Karnataka government to deny any such proposal.

Ministry move welcomed: In view of the affidavit filed by the Centre, the Apex Court observed that nothing remains of the petition. However, the matter was adjourned as Kerala has sought response to the affidavit.

Meanwhile, Wildlife First, which filed an interlocutory application in the case, said it was an important and positive development. Praveen Bhargav, Wildlife First, said: "This will ensure protection of Bandipur. We will continue to pursue the matter in the Apex Court."

Punati Sridhar, Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Head of Forest Force), said, "It is a positive development and all along the State has maintained its position for the nine-hour ban. This is a victory for conservation."

Wildlife activist Joseph Hoover said, "It is a victory for all wildlife/environment NGOs, activists, enthusiasts and photographers. This shows that if we all work united without ego for common goal anything can be achieved."

MCC begins 'Operation Stray Pigs'

20-member team from Madurai catches 30 pigs on first day

Mysuru, May 4 (RK&NNN)-The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) began a drive of catching stray pigs which cause health problems to the people and are also a nuisance as they dirty the surroundings, defeating the very purpose of the Swachh Bharat campaign of keeping the city clean.

The MCC's Veterinary Department launched 'Operation Stray Pigs' after several complaints were received about the stray pigs found near roadsides, in low lying slum areas, schools, Anganwadis and other public places, not only creating unhygienic conditions but also causing problems for traffic movement.

A 20-member team from Madurai was pressed into service and on the first day itself nearly 37 stray pigs found near Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) College close to Ring Road, Sathagalli Extension, Mahadevapura, Dr. Rajkumar Road, Triveni Circle, Kailaspuram, Rajivnagar and surrounding areas, were trapped, said MCC Veterinarian Dr. Suresh.

The drive will go on for nearly a month under the protection of the Police of the respective Police Station limits and all the stray pigs found in public places will be caught, he added.

The stray pigs that are caught in the city limits will be taken and released into the forest. If they are released in nearby places, then the owners will bring them back and start leaving all over again. Hence, this step is being taken, said Dr. Suresh.

We will not catch the pigs which are reared at homes. Only if they are released on the streets will they be caught. Even though the owners have been warned several times, they have not heeded to the warnings and continue to release the pigs on to the roads and so this drastic step is being taken, he said.

In order to rehabilitate the pigs, a rehabilitation centre had been planned near Hanchya-Sathagalli when B.L. Bhyrappa was the Mayor. However, the efforts failed and hence, we are forced to release the pigs into the nearby forests, he said.

Staging of play Dahana at Kirurangamandira tomorrow

Mysuru, May 4-Bengaluru-based theatre troupe Rangamithraru will be staging the Kannada play Dahana on May 5 (Sunday) at 4 pm and 7 pm at Kirurangamandira in Kalamandira premises. Based on the story written by well-known theatre person S.N. Sethuram, the play is directed by Raghavendra Naik.

About the Play: How would an encounter with your favourite writer turn out to be? Akshatha is a hardcore fan of HBR — the famed feminist Writer, Actor, Director & Activist. She is going through a tough phase in her personal life and reaches out to her idol seeking counsel. HBR, known for intimately portraying female sensibility and capturing the anguish and soul of a woman's being agrees to pay her a visit.

What starts off as a candid conversation soon becomes an eye opener that pushes you out of your comfort zone and makes you question the integrity of the pseudo-intellectuals like HBR. What if Akshatha's idol wants to strip off that revered image of his and yield to the bodily needs?

While the events take a dramatic turn, this hard-hitting play delves into the psyche of intellectuals like HBR, leaving you thinking hard and wondering about the masks that people wear. Will those who want to see the others naked, see their ego and lust set aflame when they strip themselves completely naked in front of their own conscience? This punch to the gut of a play makes you contemplate about just that. [Call Mob: 9945655155 or 9886711381].

Cyclone Musings

Cyclone Fani made landfall in Odisha yesterday. She has been the strongest cyclone storm in 20 years to hit the country. While it is unfortunate that eight people lost their lives we must appreciate both the State Government of Odisha and the Central Government for learning lessons from what happened 20 years ago when over 10,000 people died as cyclone 05B hit Odisha.

India is very often hit by cyclones. Nearly 10% of world's tropical cyclones hit the Indian Sub-Continent but it is expected. After all, mainland India itself has 5,400 kilometres of coastline surrounded by Arabian Sea, Bay of Bengal and the Indian Ocean.

If one includes Laskshadweep and Andaman, it is 7,516 kilometres of coastline and so we are battered often. By the way, we are ranked 16th among nations with the longest coastline. But over the years, especially in Odisha, the death toll has significantly reduced and credit must go to the Naveen Patnaik Government.

After the weather-induced massacre of 1999, the Odisha Government swiftly decided to invest in cyclone mitigation projects costing nearly $225 million. They built efficient evacuation shelters and conducted diligent disaster drills. More importantly ,they learnt to take the Central Government into confidence to deploy the disaster management force in mass evacuation. And the result?

After 1999 there has been one severe cyclone named Phailin in 2013. The casualty was just 38. Now with Fani, it is a mere 8. From five digit they have come to one digit casualty, so the Odisha Government has learnt to manage disasters effectively.

On the other hand, Mumbai and Bengaluru, two important economic hubs of the country continue to drown every time it rains. Wonder what our State Government would do if we had cyclones?

The very fact that despite the warning that in the coming monsoon Kodagu may face disasters like last year has not moved our politicians to take swift action proves their lack of empathy. Instead they are busy with Lok Sabha elections and preparing for the coming Urban Local Bodies election. We wonder if they would be so nonchalant if Kodagu was a JD(S) or Congress vote-bank.

Now, speaking of Fani one surely would wonder how are cyclones named. Fani in certain English-speaking countries means 'bum', but this Fani means 'Snake Hood,' it is a Thai word. This makes one wonder why a storm that is affecting India is given a Thai name.

It turns out, the Indian Ocean region comprising eight countries — Bangladesh, India, Maldives, Myanmar, Oman, Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Thailand — all contribute a set of names which are assigned sequentially whenever a cyclonic storm develops. So 64 names have been given. In this list, first was given by Bangladesh which was Onil. So far 57 names have been utilised since 2004. The next one is going to be Vayu, a name given by India.

Earlier, for a brief period, especially in the US, most names were female. In fact, when I lived in Texas, USA, in 2005, that country was hit by two hurricanes — one was Katrina which was devastating and the other was called Rita. When I asked my American colleague why hurricanes were named after women, he made a sexist divorce joke saying, "Because, like women when they first come they're wild and wet, but when they leave they take your house and car with them."

Sexist jokes apart, naming cyclones, hurricanes and tornadoes were indeed sexist. According to a report, the United States in the early 1950s decided on a system that only used female names. Soon weathermen started using sexist clichés to describe the storms such as " She is a feisty," or "She is flirting with the coastline." As many objected to this, men's names were introduced in 1979 and they alternate with the women's names now.

It also got political when one Black Congress woman from Texas complained that all the names were very 'White' and demanded inclusion of names from other racial groups. Now an international committee of the World Meteorological Organisation maintains the names.

For now we are glad Odisha Government protected its citizens and we pray to Mother Nature not to be as harsh to Kodagu as she was last year because our State Government is not prepared to protect Kodagu.

P.S.: If you want to submit a cyclone name, after all we have only 6 names left, you can submit it to the Director-General of India Meteorological Department (IMD). Just make sure the name is short, readily understood when broadcast and is culturally sensitive.

May be from Karnataka, we can submit 'Nikhil.' Because it will bring a smile on the weatherman's face when he asks the most popular question in Karnataka, "Nikhil, Yellidiyappa..." as he searches for the epicentre of the cyclone !

Road to HELL

Accident is the most unwanted thing to happen to a road user, though it happens quite often. The most unfortunate thing is that we do not learn from our mistakes on the road. Most of the road users are quite well aware of the general rules and safety measures while driving or walking but it is only laxity which causes accidents and crashes. While the main cause of accidents and crashes are due to human errors, black spots on roads too contribute to the rising accident deaths. This Weekend Star Supplement identifies some of the black spots on city roads and warns motorists to tread a cautious path.

Where are the BLACK SPOTS near you?

Ring Road Junction on KRS Road

By S.T. Ravikumar

Indian roads are undoubtedly the most dangerous in the world and National Highways have for long been the bright spots on India's lacklustre road transport network.

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has now identified what it calls 'black spots' on these roads India has long been proud of — stretches that have become notorious trouble spots for accidents or where accidents have historically been concentrated. A NHAI report has said there are 506 such stretches across the country with as many as 78 (or 15.4 per cent) in Tamil Nadu alone, the highest for any State.

In road safety management, an accident black spot or black spot is a place where road traffic accidents have historically been concentrated. It may have occurred for a variety of reasons, such as a sharp drop or corner in a straight road, so oncoming traffic is concealed, a hidden junction on a fast road, poor or concealed warning signs at cross-roads.

In any given 500-metre stretch if there are more than 10 accidents in three years that have resulted many in loss of lives, such places are called black spots.

The NHAI says that the maximum number of road deaths occurred due to "road engineering defects". Officials said there is no specific definition for what constitutes a "road engineering defect". The description is generally used when a problem develops due to the negligence of the department responsible for maintaining the road — covering everything from potholes to poor planning.

Black spots account for 90% of road accidents in the country and short-and-long-term measures chalked out by the Union Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) to curb accidents in such spots assume significance. With the mounting number of accidents and fatalities, analysis of accident-prone stretches and removing black spots have been given priority.

As per the Ministry's protocol for identification of black spots, an accident black spot is a road corridor of about 500 metres long on which either five road accidents, involving fatalities and grievous injuries, had been reported during the last three calendar years or 10 fatalities during the last three years.

In Mysuru there are 12 such black spots under Krishnaraja, Narasimharaja and V.V. Puram Traffic Police limits and in the last three years, 169 accidents took place where 41 people lost their lives and 167 people sustained grievous injuries scarring them for life [see table].

The strategy to eliminate these black spots includes effective road engineering solutions at the design stage, rectification of accident black spots, and improvement in automobile engineering, driver education, revision and effective enforcement of laws.

According to transport experts, simple and well-thought out designs like the height of road dividers, placement of over-bridges and underpasses at appropriate places or the placement and design of speed breakers can often be very effective in ensuring safety. Project Directors and Regional Officers of Highway projects have to adopt a sensitive, sensible, time-bound and result-oriented approach to tackle the problem of road accidents and take up the work of rectification of accident black spots in mission mode, say experts. Also, local problems of a Highway site should be taken into account when preparing the Detailed Project Report (DPR) for a Highway project.

According to traffic experts, most of the accidents at black spots occur due to speedy and aggressive driving of road users. Furthermore, most of the accidents happen in broad daylight rather than at night. In order to have safe and smooth flow of traffic on urban Highways, encroachments within the right of way should be cleared and separate service roads should be provided for traffic.

Low cost remedial measures like road marking, signs, signals, enforcement, slight geometric improvement can reduce black spots. All the existing available accident data must be analysed and processed in order to address the main causes of the crashes with respect to vehicle, road characteristics at specific locations and road user's psychology, they say.

Each and every black spot must be treated independently based on its nature, size and intensity of accidents and this can be done in a systematic way so that a better, safer and convenient road traffic system can be developed, say experts.

'Engineering, Enforcement, Education can prevent accidents at black spots'

Dr. M.A. Saleem

Speaking to Star of Mysore on the black spots and how to avoid accidents at such places, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP), Crime and Technical Services - Karnataka State, Dr. M.A. Saleem said that firstly, certain road engineering measures must be taken to eliminate accidents.

"Every road or Highway should be constructed in a way that guarantees and ensures comfortable, convenient and most importantly, safe transportation of people and various kinds of goods and materials. But accidents are very common events on the roads, and sometimes valuable lives are lost. There is a need for protective measures to be taken, for example installation of barricades," he said.

Technological advancements in Highway engineering have improved design, construction and maintenance methods used over the years. Aspects like road design speed, traffic volume, number of lanes, level of service, sight distance, alignment, super-elevation and grades, cross section, lane width, structure gauge, horizontal and vertical clearance must be looked into, said Dr. Saleem, the former Mysuru City Police Commissioner, who has a Doctorate Degree in Traffic Management from Bangalore University.

Other measures include traffic calming measures like preventing overspeeding must be initiated along with enforcement measures like placing CCTV cameras, presence of Policeman and other measures. Most of the accidents at black spots occur due to traffic violations including driving at a speed exceeding the specified limit, jumping red signal, carrying overload in goods carriage and carrying persons in goods carriages, speaking on mobile phone while driving, driving without wearing seat belt or helmet, and drunken driving, he said.

"In order to curb overspeeding that leads to accidents, barricades must be placed as speed-breakers on some of the roads at alternative intervals. In the absence of speed-breakers, motorists tend to increase speed and the problem is compounded in the absence of signals. Lastly, users of that particular road stretch must be educated about black spots for them to be cautious," Dr. Saleem added.

Thorns for public, flowers for VIP

- Gym equipment at Kuvempunagar Park waits for inauguration
- Thorns placed on Open Air Gyms to deter people from using them

Mysuru, May 4 (SBD&BCT)- Whenever a project is complete, it is normal to place flowers and bouquets on it as flowers are considered auspicious. But have you heard of thorns being placed on a newly-built project?

A bed of thorns or call it rows of thorns placed on Open Air Gym equipment are welcoming visitors to a park in Kuvempunagar 'M' Block. Why the thorns are placed? The reason is shocking: So that people should not use the Gym equipment before it is formally inaugurated by a VIP.

The park is located inside Ward 59, Second Stage, 6th Cross near Ganapathi and Navagraha Temple at Kuvempunagar 'M' Block. As all parks, it is a public utility and the Gym equipment has been installed so that people can avail health benefits by exercising regularly on that equipment. But there is a difference in this park — the Gym equipment cannot be used unless a VIP inaugurates it.

This "VIP Culture" and its blind implementation has led to severe resentment among the park users who have criticised the high-handedness of elected representatives and have demanded immediate removal of thorns so that public can use the equipment for the very purpose it has been installed.

Brand new Gym equipment has been installed at a cost of Rs. 4 lakh and the works have been completed one month ago. But the equipment has not yet been open to public and thorns have been placed as a deterrent.

When the public objected to this, a lame excuse was given that it will take some days for the cement curing works undertaken while installing the Gym equipment to turn stronger.

After days of curious reactions from the park users on why the thorns were placed, there came the real reason: The area Corporator Sunanda Palanethra wants to invite a VIP to inaugurate the Gym equipment. And the VIP inauguration is not possible now as the Election Model Code of Conduct is in place.

This has enraged the park users as to why the Corporator wants to take credit for a small work like installing Gym equipment. "We can understand if it is a major work and a VIP inaugurates it. But unfortunately, the Corporator wants to showcase such a small work and that too inconveniencing the public," said a senior citizen.

Justifying the placing of thorns, Sunanda Palanethra said that lakhs of rupees have been spent on the park. "I have taken personal interest in developing the park. It was to be inaugurated by MLA S.A. Ramdas, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath and MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag. As elected representatives cannot participate in inauguration due to Model Code of Conduct, we have decided to place thorns on the equipment."

She said, "Works worth Rs. 6 lakh is pending at the park and two more Gym equipment have to be installed and once done, the thorns will be removed and they will be open for public. There is no malafide intention behind this and I have even informed the residents of my Ward."

Some of the Gym equipment at Sripada Shile Park and Jnanavana Park were broken even before it was inaugurated. "I don't want this to happen and it is my responsibility to ensure that public funds do not go waste," she added.

State puts Cap on School Bag weight

In a circular issued on May 3, the Department has stated that the weight of the school bag must not be more than 10 per cent of the student's body weight. The Department has directed all the DDPIs to implement the same from next June.

The order will be applicable to all the State Government, Aided and Private Unaided schools starting from the academic year 2019-20. This has been confirmed to Star of Mysore by Mysuru DDPI Panduranga who said that necessary steps will be taken to implement the government order from June this year and the same will be communicated to all schools in Mysuru.

Also, giving relief to tiny tots who are in 1st and 2nd standard, the Government has ordered no homework for these kids. The Government has directed schools not to assign any homework for these children as per the directions by the Ministry of Human Resource Development.

In addition to this, the Department has recommended that all schools will have a 'No School Bag Day' every Third Saturday of a month.

The Government's directive is based on a pilot study carried out during 2016-17 by a Committee comprising Centre for Child and Law and the National Law School of India University (NLSIU) in various schools across the State and subsequent opinion by orthopaedic experts. Though the report was submitted two years back, the Government has taken a decision now. The Committee was headed by Dr. V.P. Niranjanaradhya.

The Committee found that on an average, the weight of school bags for students of private unaided schools were 5.6 kgs and Government school students carried bags weighing the least at an average of 3.7 kilos per bag. The survey also found that the weight of the bag increased when students made the move from primary to high school. Overall, bag weights ranged between 1.8 kilos in class one of a government school to a maximum of 8.3 kilos per bag for Class 12 students.

The maximum number of notebooks on average carried by a child was the highest in Class 8 with students carrying an average of 10 notebooks. The least was carried by students in Class 1 with an average of 3 notebooks.

The survey also revealed that many students carried other material besides notebooks and textbooks like lunch boxes, water bottle, sports equipment, musical instruments, story books, extra books and pouches.

Recommendations by Education Department

- Weight of the bag should be lesser that 10% of the body weight of the child.
- Students should be allowed to keep bags or books and other study and assignment materials at schools. A dedicated place must be assigned at schools.
- 'No Bag Day' every Third Saturday of a month. A lot of extracurricular activities must be conducted.
- Local tours, newspaper reading activity, mathematics quiz, sports, Abacus, science experiments, pottery, cultural activities, pictorial activities and others will have to be conducted on 'No Bag Day'.
- Provide pure drinking water at schools so that children need not bring water bottles from home.
- Parents must be educated on bad effects of carrying heavy bags to schools.
- Provide healthy and hygienic canteen facility at schools to avoid them carrying lunch box.
- Schools should prefer bags made of lighter material. Even trolley bags should be recommended.

When R.K. Narayan raised weight issue in Parliament

R.K. Narayan

Mysuru, May 4- Renowned novelist from Mysuru R.K. Narayan had raised the issue of school bag weight in the Rajya Sabha in the late 1980s.

Narayan, who created some of the most memorable stories about childhood, argued for abolition of the school bag. Such a measure should be the beginning of a wider reform in school education.

The celebrated novelist felt that education is a means to achieve internal freedom and internal freedom is defined as an ability to think rationally and express creatively. He always used to say that classroom-confined, examination-oriented and syllabi-specific education system is stifling this rational thought and creative expression.

City schools already have 'No Bag Day'

Mysuru, May 4 (BCT)- Much ahead of the Department of Primary and Secondary Education issuing a circular stating that every third Saturday of a month must be observed as a 'No Bag Day', certain schools in Mysuru have already put this system into practice.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Principal of Vijaya Vittala School S.P. Asha said that they have been following this since the last two years and every Second Saturday is a 'No Bag Day'. "In fact, we are deliberating on making every Saturday as a 'No Bag Day' and expand the existing creative, art, craft, sports activities for students," she said.

Dr. L Savitha, Senior Principal and Secretary of Kautilya Vidyalaya said that such a system has already been implemented at the school.

"Saturdays usually are meant for Scouts, physical education, Spoken English, sports and other activities. On those days, we encourage a lot of creative and scholastic activities and we have Atal Tinkering Lab for skill development and to develop scientific knowledge.

K.G. Mathew, Principal of Excel Public School said that as a policy, the school does not encourage students to carry school bags. "We have dedicated places in classrooms for students to keep their bags and books. Also, Saturdays are meant for creativity and sports. We also have a good cafeteria where we give lunch and pure drinking water, eliminating the need of students carrying food and water from homes," he said.

'Romeo' teacher arrested for saying 'I Love You' to failed SSLC student

Mandya, May 4 (Nagaiah)- Teachers are supposed to be role models who not only guide the students to achieve greatness but also come to their aid in times of distress.

However, here is a teacher who instead of comforting a student who had failed in her SSLC exam tried to misuse the situation by proclaiming his love for her saying "I love you." The East Police have arrested this 'Romeo' and the accused teacher is Meghanath.

Background: Meghanath was an English teacher in a private school in Mandya city. He had uttered the words 'I love you' in the guise of pacifying the failed SSLC student.

A complaint was also registered against him in the Police Station.

The Police based on an audio record of him teasing the student over phone, arrested him.

The incident: The student had failed in two subjects in the SSLC exam. On hearing that she had failed in two subjects, the teacher Meghanath had asked her to tell her parents that she had failed in only one subject.

Further, he had told her that he would give her notes and see that she writes the exams and passes them. Then he had asked her not to get dejected and would call her, when she could come and meet him.

Finally, Meghanath had asked her, "Have you switched off the loudspeaker now? Meet me in the evening. I love you," on the phone to the student.

Bee attack: Mourners leave body, run for life

Mandya, May 4 (Nagaiah)-A group of mourners ran for their life keeping the body on the ground when the bees suddenly attacked them.

The incident occurred at Peehalli in Srirangapatna taluk yesterday while the villagers were performing the last rites of Unturamma Devi's Guddappa Boraiah alias Dollaiah.

Dollaiah died on Thursday night in the village. Yesterday, at around 12 noon nearly 150 villagers were taking his body for the last rites near Unturamma Devi temple. Suddenly the bees started attacking them. They got scared with this sudden attack and had no option but to leave the body there itself and run for their lives.

A few of them who were stung by the bees and became unwell were rushed to hospitals in Kodiyala and Arkere where they were treated. Two, including Nirmala who suffered badly were admitted to the Mandya District Hospital.

Last rites in the evening: Once the bee attack subsided the villagers came back in the evening and performed the last rites of Dollaiah.

Shubman Gill's sublime strokes guide Kolkata to victory

Mohali, May 4- Shubman Gill played some sublime strokes as Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) beat Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) by seven wickets in an IPL clash here yesterday.

KKR now have 12 points with a game against Mumbai Indians (MI) to go, while Punjab have 10 with a match against Chennai Super Kings (CSK) pending.

Chasing a target of 184, KKR openers Shubman Gill and Chris Lynn got off to a solid start. Lynn fell in the last over of the powerplay but not before scoring at over 200 strike rate. His 46 came off just 22 balls.

Thereafter, Robin Uthappa took responsibility and kept hitting boundaries. They both played smart cricket and kept the required run rate under check. Uthappa was undone by R. Aswin in the 11th over.

Shubman Gill

After him, Andre Russell came to the crease but could not emulate his last match performance and fell cheaply for 24.

Shubman Gill kept his end well and timed his innings to perfection and scored some crucial boundaries. Dinesh Karthik made quick-fire 21 off 9 balls and sealed the match in visitors' favour.

Earlier, KKR skipper Dinesh Karthik won the toss and chose to bat against KXIP. KXIP openers K.L. Rahul and Chris Gayle both fell cheaply inside four overs with scoreboard reading 22.

Thereafter, Mayank Agarwal and Nicholas Pooran played their natural game and built a decent partnership. During their stay at the crease, both looked in good touch as they played some exquisite shots.

However, they both fell in quick succession and conditions looked grim for KXIP. Mandeep Singh and Sam Curran, who were included in the playing XI, played smartly and kept KXIP on track for a good score.

After Mandeep was dismissed, Curran took onus on himself and scored 20 in last over of the innings to take Punjab to a decent total of 183/6.

Shubman Gill was chosen as the Man of the Match.
